There are many things to make a building out of. But what are the materials to make buildings?

There are thousands of buildings in the world. But what makes a building a building. Bricks, glass, some parts wood, and even ice.

Since the 1800s, there have been buildings, though buildings are not very old, buildings yet have a lot of history. From Lincoln's death (theater building) to courthouse/building that ended segregation.

For starters houses are different from buildings. Buildings can be many things. Malls, schools, hotels, and apartment ETC... Besides forms of buildings they are also the best place to start anything, like businesses and companies.

All in all there are many ways to make buildings and many materials to make buildings.
