

THE WORLD IN NEW YORK

By: Will Bruner

New York City (NYC) is known for its diversity in people.

But, something that not everyone might know is, NYC also has diversity in restaurants

Who says you have to travel 11 hours for Turkish food?

50 steps from the door of my building

When you walk in you feel like your in Japan.
And it's on the upper east side!

152

il riccio

Just one of the many Italian restaurants on the upper east side. There is a block with 4
Italian restaurants!

ZAGAT
2016

A

We Deliver!

WE DELIVER!

ZAGAT
2016

WHOLE WHEAT PASTA
&
GLUTEN FREE
PASTA AVAILABLE

ZAGAT

You don't have to travel to Spain to get good tapas. You have some right here!

NYC has restaurants with cuisines from 130 out of 196 countries in the world! The first ethnic restaurant founded in NYC was Delmonico's. Delmonico's opened in 1827, and was created by two brothers, John and Peter Delmonico. The restaurant's cuisine was French

Perfectly great French food right around the corner.

No plane rides needed here for Greek food. Just a short walk.

Ethnic restaurants were not popular when the first came to NYC. But, after a while they became more popular and now they're everywhere!

Persian restaurant
Just a few minutes away
Great place to eat at

LE PAIN QUOTIDIEN

Bakery & Restaurant

Croissants and pastries galore
The menu you have to explore,
It's an eating fest
And the food is the best!
Then, you go order some more!

Did you know there were restaurants that featured cuisine from Egypt?

Overall, what started as one restaurant in 1827 created by the two brave brothers Peter and John has turned NYC in to a city where you can find an ethnic restaurant on every block. Isn't it amazing? One restaurant can do so much influence on one of the biggest cities in the world. Anything is possible