

Flowers: Nature's True Beauty

By: Rachel Eisenhart

Flowers make me happy

They come in bunches

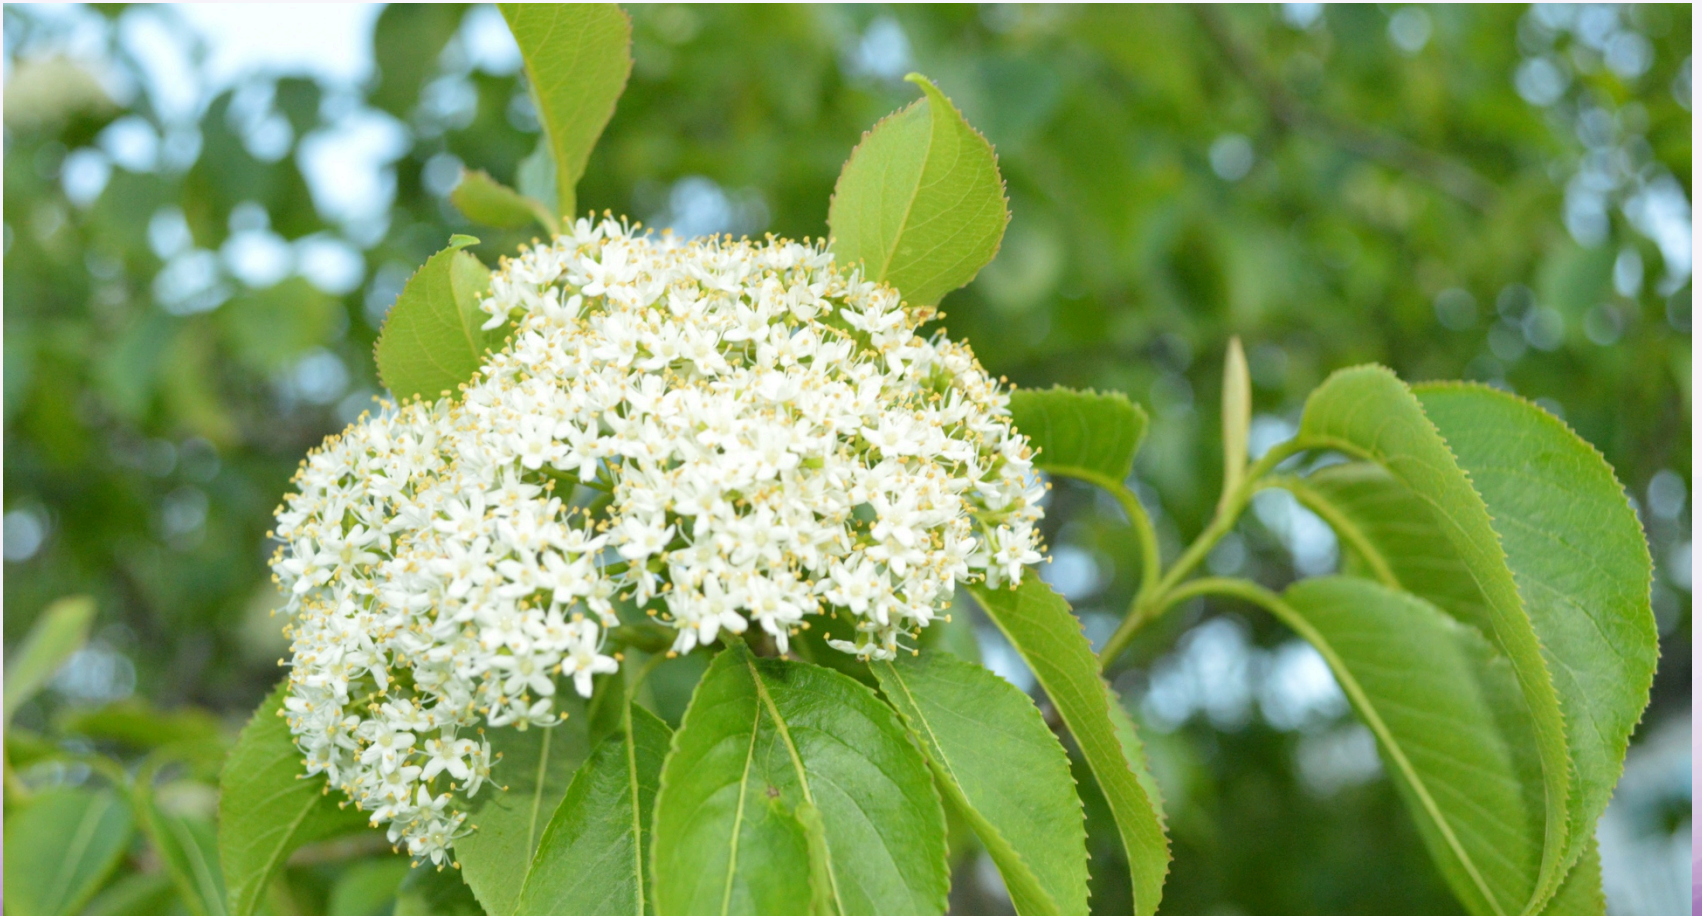

Or separate

In bushes

Or on trees

They are really big

Or really small

Flowers

Flowers give people a warm, calm, soothing, at-peace feeling. Flowers are unique from anything else. The colors are every pattern and every shade in the universe. In such unique shapes that nobody can compare. There can be gigantic fields or a single flower. Flowers are everywhere, from the Volcanoes of Hawaii to the streets of new york.

Flowers have bright, vivid colors. Flowers have these colors because the colors attract bees that take the pollen from flower to flower. This helps the flower. The process is called pollination.
