Here is a typical conversation in my house:

"Honey did you finish your homework?"

'No, now leave me alone so I can finish my homework" (like I said they bug)

"I just asked did you finish your homework"

"I did...well I meant to say I did not. So can you go so I can go do my homework?"

"0k"

"Thank you" Yes she bought it (moms are so gullible) I did not even start my homework.... now where was I in mine craft?

One hour later...

"Honey did you finish you homework yet"

"ZZZZZZZZZZZZ"

"honey? "YOU WERE PLAYING MINE CRAFT"

"oh yeah I did not even have homework"

"so if I text your teacher she will say you have no homework" "yes"

"dear teacher did the students have homework. Send.

10 minutes later

"yes they did not have homework" (They don't ever believe us!)

Don't you hate when moms just come up and ask you questions and are going on and on in front of the TV and telling you something that you do not want to hear it and you're like "mom I do not want to hear this" but they just ignore you and keep talking.

Here is one that everybody hates they ask you what you want to do when you are already doing something that is fun. I hate when my mom does that.

Does your mom ever say she is not going to get what you want but then she does? This one time my sister asked for a bird and my mom said she will not get one for her but then she did and now I have a bird in my room that would not be quiet. My mom also said she would not get a skateboard and I got one.

Moms they always think they can out smart you but they can't.