

Citi Bikes

By James Hixenbaugh

The city bikes arrived the last week of May 2013. Since then they have made a lot of money for Citibank. The prices for Citi bike rentals are $95 per year, $9.95 per day & $25 per week. That last one I thought was pretty good.

The best part about the Citi bikes is that they are great for tourists. But another great thing is that they made a 2nd avenue Bike lane. The bike lane that was made almost overnight! Not only is the bike lane great for Citi bikes but anybody who has a bike in general. This will make it easy for people to avoid traffic on their bikes. Don't you hate it when you're stuck on the road trying to avoid traffic on your bike but now it is so easy to avoid that.
