

The Perfect Car

By Isaac Freierman

Today we are going to talk about the stupid, idiotic problem of getting the perfect car. Imagine this: you are getting a car that's really cool but you can't afford it. You are spending your family's food money on a car. But if you do buy it anyway and you take it home and it's all junked up, don't blame me! Blame the people who built it and those TV commercials. Those things lie like crazy. People go crazy over cars. They are not as important as other things like food or your family. Also, just because they look cool or go really fast or can fly to the moon (the 3rd one would be really cool) you should not buy it.

I think that the best thing to do is to go on TV and say IT DOES NOT MATTER WHAT YOUR CAR IS LIKE!!! The only thing a car should have that is fancy is a radio that is loud and has a bunch of channels. People care a lot about cars and I understand that but not focusing on your kids or the rest of your family but mostly focusing on your car than you have gone to far. Way too far.

The only thing you need is a good driver (I'm talking about you!) a working car, seats for 4, a trunk, a radio, and a decent butt warmer. I may not be the best person to talk about cars considering mine was totaled by some blind dope coming out of a driveway. That was still a few months ago. Some people just buy the car (which is a lot of money) not knowing that it's too much to afford. Then they realize but they can't return it so you give it to used cars but you don't get as much as you paid for it.

Every body cares about what size it is or if there is enough foot space or if it has good air conditioning or comfy seats. A car is not about how many radio channels it has or if it can go 150 mph. people worry too much what their car is like. I think that people should worry about is if it works and can get you some where on time and if it has a decent but warmer. (the butt warmer is optional)☺
