

Awesome Amsterdam & Lovely London

By Aidan Eisen

Introduction

Your on the London eye, or on one of the 165 canals in Amsterdam. Your looking right into one of the hundreds of sail boats around you, or your just looking at Big Ben waiting for him ring. Both London, and Amsterdam are wonderful places.

London is the biggest city in Britain and in Europe. Also, London has one of the biggest Ferris wheels in the world. Standing at 443 feet, the London Eye is one of the highest looking points in all of London. This big city also holds over 7,000,000 people. That's a lot of people. London is also home to amazing theatre. Every other day there is a ceremonial switching of the guards at Buckingham palace. The city is an overall, 620 square miles.

Amsterdam is also a very wonderful place. Amsterdam is rich with history. This was one of the places that the Nazis took over during World War II. Amsterdam has lots of amazing history that is a lot of fun to learn about. Amsterdam also produces one of the most popular beers in the world, Heineken. Amsterdam also has a ton of water. According to, AwesomeAmsterdam.com, "There are about 60 miles of waterways in Amsterdam." Also, Amsterdam holds about 881,000 bikes. Almost everybody rides a bike in Amsterdam. Both Amsterdam and London are beautiful and very interesting.

All Aboard

Hard at Work

This is a Heineken brewery in Amsterdam.

Looks Good

Lots of Bikes

This is one street in Amsterdam.

That's one Big Eye

This is the London Eye.
This is the biggest Ferris Wheel in London.

Buckingham Palace

Parliament

This is where they make the laws.

Ring Ring Said Big Ben

