While reading you will see...

My thoughts

Facts

Captions

Introduction

🔥 The skies, the cars, the lights, and the people outside are all different every single day. Do you think it looks the same? Well if you think it is, then you thought wrong. The stores, the buildings are the same but, the people, the cars around your neighborhood isn't the same normally.

Have ever took interest of the sky?

Did you know that the sun was made up with all colors of rainbow

Have you ever realized that every single day the sky is different? Its unique! Skies are just like us humans. They all have something in common but they are all different. However, Its not just the skies and sunsets that are beautiful. What is on the ground is very pretty too. You can see cars, people, and you can see daily action through these pictures. Also the buildings are all different and it is fun to see the difference between the buildings and watch where people and cars are going!

Can the weather or the temperature affect the sky?

I think that the sky would be affected by the weather but not the temperature. I think the weather does affect the color of the sky because I noticed that when the weather was sunny the sun was bright red but, when it was rainy it was just blurry blue.

Late afternoon

All sun sets have something different in it. These picture were all took in different days. Even if it is 1 hour later on the same day the sun will be in a different spot and it might be darker.

Prettiest Sky

The skies are one of the prettiest and the most beautiful thing I have ever seen. Especially SUNSETS! However outside you can see green, red, yellow lights and it's like a collage worth a million dollars. In the daytime you can see the sun, the clouds, and sometimes rain. Best to me in the daytime is the buildings because there is different designs, different colors and all somehow different.

Night time

💧 The ,night of NY never sleeps but the sky is much darker. Thee most beautiful thing at night is the lights. There is green, red, yellow, and more. If you see carefully you can see the colors of the ,sky to the tiny cars below.

Day Time

💧 These skies are very bright. When it is a sunny day but, it is a little dark when it is rainy or very cloudy

Conclusion

If you look closely in to the pictures, there is a lot of details such as the lights, the cars, the people, the buildings and more. Either you live on a high place or a low place, you can discover what is outside of your window.
