

Proud to be an NYC Fountain

By: Samantha Sanders

Introduction

You may think of New York City as a loud and crazy place, but it does have its quiet parts. New York City has hidden features that you may notice, but not think of them as important. Time Square may be the main attraction, but there are more fountains than Time Squares. Everything surrounds the big fountain wherever you are. They bring water to the next level. Many places in The Big Apple have fountains, like... Bethesda Fountain, Cherry Hill Fountain, Columbus Center Fountains, and the Rockefeller Center Fountain.

Bethesda Fountain

I'm Bethesda Fountain! I'm a famous and big attraction in Central Park. Many tourists come to take wedding photos in front of me.

Cherry Hill Fountain

I'm Cherry Hill fountain!
I may be small for a Central Park fountain, but I still feel very special. Many horse and carrages ride around my dirt road.

City Hall Park Fountain

I'm City Hall Park Fountain, I sit in the middle of the park with my beautiful water shows! I'm here just for show, but I'm very nice to look at!

Columbus Circle Fountains

We're the Columbus Circle fountains. We are the wonderful fountains that surround the Columbus Circle Statue. There are many of us, but we are quite small for fountains. Some people like to throw coins in our water for wishes.

Rockefeller Center Fountain

I'm the Rockefeller Center Fountain! I'm the big gold man who watches over you while you're ice skating during the winter. Yup! I'm the most spectacular work of art in the Rockefeller Plaza.

Conclusion

In Conclusion, all of the NYC fountains have a purpose, they all are beautiful parts of NY. Remember that no matter how big or small of an attraction the fountain is, it still has it's personality and beauty.
