

SOCCER POSITIONS

BY:ANDREAS RAMDAS

The most important position in soccer is the keeper also known as the goalie. Before the keeper there is 2-3 sweepers, then the fullbacks, then the stopper, then the midfielders, after that there is finally the attacker.

THE KEEPER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT PLAYER IN THE WHOLE TEAM BECAUSE HE/SHE HAS TO STOP THE OTHER TEAMS ATTACKERS AND MIDFIELDERS FROM SCORING A GOAL.

The sweepers are always trying to help the keeper at stopping the other team's attackers score a goal by stealing the soccer ball.

The fullback does the same thing as the sweeper.

The stopper is the guy who tries to make the other team's attacker pass so that someone like the fullback can steal the ball.

A midfielder helps everyone behind and in front him/her self, to either help the attacker score a goal or help the fullback steal the ball.

The forward also called the attacker tries to score a goal.

Every position is important but the most important one is the keeper, if there was no keeper then once the other team passes you, then they will probably score a goal because nobody is there to stop the other team's attackers from scoring a goal and get a point. Each player has a number on their back. The keeper has gloves to block the ball from hitting his/her bare hands.
